

2018 YEAR OF LIFELONG LEARNING

YOU'RE INVITED TO OUR FORUM!

Join us for a celebration and wrap-up of activities for the Year of Lifelong Learning (YOLL). Our final event is a forum on Human Rights Day to share stories of how learning changes lives, and provide an update on our progress towards a national policy on lifelong learning.

Special guest speakers will outline:

- The history and context of lifelong learning in Australia, the challenges and benefits of recognition, the attributes of a good policy and a way forward.
- The importance of lifelong learning to sustainable development and achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and its effectiveness in enabling and empowering citizens to take action.
- Stories of how learning changes lives.

We will also share with you our next steps for taking the campaign forward.

Light refreshments provided. Register here!

TOWARDS A LIFELONG LEARNING POLICY

DATE 10 DECEMBER 2018

TIME 2:00 PM - 4:00 PM

LOCATION

Council Chamber, 1st Floor
Building 1 (Francis Ormond Building)
RMIT University
124 La Trobe Street
Melbourne

COST

FREE for all ALA members | $20 for non-members.

KEYNOTES

Adjunct Associate Professor Tony Brown, University of Canberra

Lifelong Learning: an organising principle for reform

Professor Bruce Wilson, Director, European Union Centre, Social and Global Studies, RMIT University

Lifelong Learning and Sustainable Development

LEARNING CHANGES LIVES

Featuring adult and community learners and educators from:

North Melbourne Language and Learning Centre
Everybody's Business project

Yarraville Community Centre
Reconnect program

Tamworth Community College
Inform yourself, transform your life

City of Melbourne Libraries
Literacy & Learning

Learning changes lives